KENTUCKIANS' HOME-COMING

ONE MILLION FORMER RESIDENTS INVITED TO ATTEND GREAT CELEBRATION.

RAILROADS OFFER LOW RATES

Perry's Victory on Lake Erie, Battle of Thames and Massacre of River Raisin To Be Reproduced in Fireworks and Sham Battles.

One million expatriated Kentuckians and their children, even to the fourth and fifth generations, have been invited to return to Louisville to participate in the Perry's Victory Centennial Celebration, to be held in that city seven days, beginning September 29. Those particularly invited are the descendants of Kentucky soldiers and sailors of the War of 1812, and it is estimated that 75 per cent of native-born Kentuckians and the descendants of those born in Kentucky in the past century are eligible to participate in such a celebration. Approximately one million people now living in other states are included in the "list of those invited."

The purpose of the Louisville celebration is to commemorate not only Perry's victory on Lake Erie, but all other events of the war of 1812. However, in particular honor of Commodore Perry a special attraction in the Louisville celebration will be the reunion of the Perry family, regardless of kinship. Everybody by the name of "Perry" will be invited to this special entertainment and those who expect to attend are requested to notify Edwin Perry at the Louisville headquarters.

GOVERNOR ISAAC SHELBY, OF KENTUCKY
Who in person led the victorious forces in the Battle of the Thames.

The Kentucky Association, which has in charge the Louisville celebration, has given an order for a quarter of a million ancestry certificates to be handsomely engraved, and which will be filled in and given away as souvenirs to descendants of Kentucky soldiers and sailors of the War of 1812. Another entertainment in their honor will be a mammoth reception, at which refreshments will be served and opportunity provided for public addresses. For the few remaining actual sons and daughters a banquet will be given. A great ball will be given in the First Regiment Armory, which has a capacity of 20,000 for them.

Forty per cent of the white male population of Kentucky engaged in the War of 1812, consequently forty per cent of the succeeding generation were really sons and daughters of that war, and, estimating that one-half of them intermarried with families which did not participate in the war, sixty per cent of the third generation were grandchildren of the war, and in similar manner at least seventy-five per cent and probably as high as ninety per cent of the fourth and incoming fifth generations are descendants of Kentuckians who fought in that war.

It is estimated that in the state of Kentucky alone one million men, women and children are eligible to participate in the proposed reunion, and it is estimated that another million now living outside of Kentucky are eligible to participate.

During the week of the celebration in Louisville spectacular free events, including features on a mammoth scale not heretofore given with any American celebration, will be provided every afternoon and evening. Pilgrimages to notable historic scenes of interest may be made in the mornings. In addition to free attractions there will be scores of the highest priced amusement concessions that can be secured on the American continent.

The railroads in a radius of 500 miles of Louisville have been asked to make a rate for the celebration week and immediately preceding and following that week of one cent a mile. Railroads running out of Louisville probably will give low rates to other points in Kentucky, so that former Kentuckians who live a great distance can visit their old homes as well as attend the Louisville celebration.

Local committees are preparing an 1812 museum, in which they solicit the loan of any souvenirs or relics of the War of 1812, providing the transportation at their expense, and guaranteeing that articles loaned for the week will be returned to owners. This museum for the time being will undoubtedly be the most valuable collection in America.

CARE OF THE CONSUMPTIVE

NOT DANGEROUS IN THE HOME IN THE EARLY STAGES OF THE DISEASE.

Important Information Regarding the Proper Care of the Patient—The Use of Material Eating Utensils—Care of the Clothes.

The home care of the consumptive in the beginning stage, under the supervision of a doctor or a nurse, is not dangerous to the other members of the household. The germs of the disease are almost wholly thrown off in the discharges from the mouth and nose, and a uniformly careful collection and destruction of this material will prevent the spread of the germs through the house. The consumptive should spit in a paper box or cloth which can be burned. Paper napkins should be used instead of the ordinary cotton or linen handkerchiefs to wipe the nose and lips, and these napkins should be carefully burned. The consumptive should have his own set of dishes, which should be washed separately in boiling water. His bed and table linen should first be soaked in a disinfecting solution or boiled for half an hour before being washed with the rest of the family laundry. He should wash his hands carefully before and after eating. He should never cough without a paper napkin held to his mouth. He should never kiss another person. These are practically all of the precautions; but they are very difficult to observe day in and day out that special sanitariums for the care of consumptives are almost essential.

REST!

If the doctor says "Tuberculosis," follow exactly his orders in regard to ventilation, food, exercise and rest. He knows better than you do. This is especially true in regard to the rest and exercise, which have to be carefully gauged for each patient and each stage of the disease. Until the disease is checked and marked improvement in general condition and increased weight are noticed, almost absolute rest is essential. The disease is one that destroys the tissues of the body and uses up its energy rapidly. If you persist in using up your energy by work and exercise, the body has nothing left to fight with. Beware what the family medical books prescribe in the way of exercise for consumptives. No one prescription will answer for all cases, and this may be the one where their general prescription will send you to the grave-yard. If your responsibilities seem to make absolute rest for two or three or four months impossible, just remember that the progress of the disease will soon force you to it without the hope of recovery.

DISPENSARIES!

A free dispensary is a place kept open certain hours of the week with a doctor and generally a nurse in attendance for the free examination of those who need its service. People of means ought to go to their physicians and pay the regular fee for such service. Inasmuch as physicians are very render their services free to the needy anyway, they generally favor the dispensary as saving time. Sometimes these dispensaries, or clinics, are held for all diseases and sometimes for special classes of disease, such as tuberculosis, or hook worm, or diseases of the eye, or nose and throat. Such a dispensary is an advantage to the whole community. The needy feel less hesitation about going there than about calling a physician; consequently maladies are often more quickly diagnosed and put under control, and the contagious diseases are then prevented from spreading. Especially in the case of consumption, it is easier to get an examination of the children of the family in a dispensary than at home. The doctor in information which can be better secured and tabulated in a dispensary than elsewhere is of great service in any general campaign for public health. A free dispensary can be cheaply started and maintained, because physicians are always willing to give an hour or two a week of their time to that work. Are you ready to give a little of your money for it in case one is started in your community?

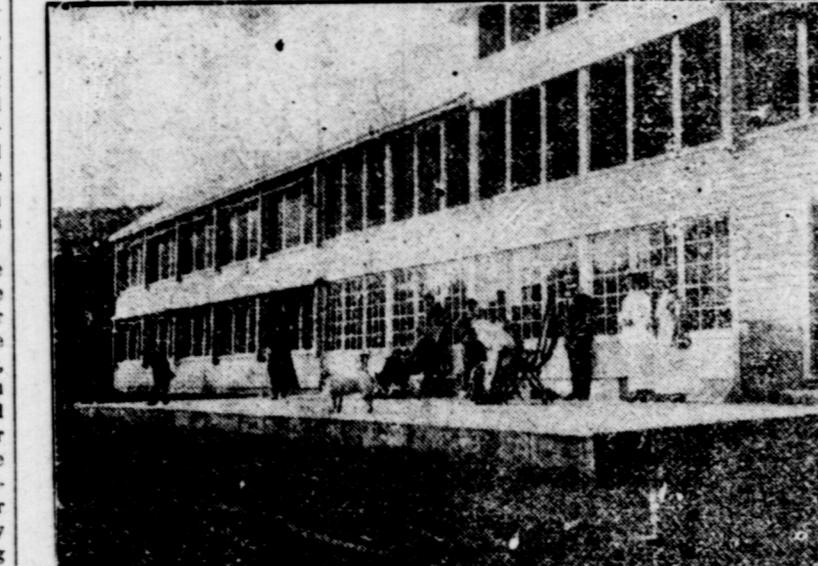

Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission.

ASHAMED!

Lots of people seem proud to have appendicitis or nervous troubles because they think they are fashionable diseases, and are ashamed to be called consumptives because consumption is not fashionable. Feeling this way, they neglect diagnosis and medical care when they first detect the signs of consumption, thinking that, by simple negligence, the disease will disappear of itself. It is well within the truth to say that 5,000 lives are sacrificed annually in the United States through this false pride. The only thing to be ashamed of in having a case of tuberculosis in the family is the neglect of the disease and the consequent death of the sufferer, and such neglect deserves round censure because it will probably involve more than one person. Remember that an early diagnosis of consumption increases the chance of cure a thousand fold.

SMALL COUNTY HOSPITALS PROVIDED FOR KENTUCKY

FULTON COUNTY TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL, GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y.
This is a remodeled farmhouse. The entire cost, the small farm included, was about $9,500. It provides accommodation for 13 incipient cases in wards and 4 advanced cases in separate rooms.

The law creating the Kentucky

Tuberculosis Commission at the last legislative session provides also a plan for the building of small hospitals throughout the state for the proper treatment of tuberculosis. The plan in brief is as follows: The Fiscal Court of any county may declare that county a district for the purpose of building a hospital. Or, by petition, the question may be submitted to a vote of the people at any regular election, and, if carried, it is then the duty of the Fiscal Court to declare the county a district. Any group of counties touching one another may declare themselves a single district for this purpose by a vote at any general election, which carries in each of the counties involved. Then, under certain restrictions in the law, the State Commission names a considerable group of citizens, men and women, of the county or counties involved, from which group the judges of these counties name a District Board of Tuberculosis Hospital Trustees. This Board then asks of the Fiscal Court funds to be raised in the regular levy of taxes. From these funds a site is selected, subject to the approval of the State Commission, and then the Board proceeds to erect the hospital. The State Commission is given a very general oversight of the future activities of the Board, and the construction and maintenance of the hospital. Patients are to be received from the district either free or for a weekly charge, according to their financial condition, and the cost of maintenance not met by these charges must be paid by the district.

This is not so expensive a plan as it looks. After the construction of a reasonably substantial building for the purpose of administration, the cooking and serving of meals, and the housing of the nurses, the building or buildings for the actual housing of the consumptives can be more cheaply erected than those for any similar hospital purpose, because the patients are made to live and sleep in the open air, or on verandas; very small, cheaply constructed buildings are sufficient for the purpose. The whole campaign against tuberculosis is based, not on sympathy, but on economics. Practically all of the sufferers are between the ages of 15 and 50, nearly all of them housewives or wage-earners, and many of them the parents of children. You can serve your community and insure yourself in no better way than by advocating the building of such an institution. Every cent it costs is more than returned by the distress it relieves and the poverty it prevents.

FARM STOCK

CONDITION FOR BROOD SOW

Animal to Farrow Should Be Neither Too Fat Nor Too Thin—Plenty of Exercise Needed.

Keeping the breed sow in proper condition of flesh is one thing that the swine breeder should not neglect. Just what degree of fatness should be maintained the breeder should decide for himself, because that is something that cannot be very well stated on paper.

Some advocate an extreme degree of thinness, but I think that is scarcely proper, for it is almost certain to breed into the progeny a characteristic that prevents rapid fattening, says a writer in the Farm Progress. Then, when the rations are reduced to such a quantity that they will produce the thinness, they are hardly sufficient for keeping up the vigor of the body.

When sows are kept at the proper degree of lateness their litters are almost certain to be easy fatteners, and then, when a sow has outlived her years of usefulness as a breeder, she may be fattened into an animal of first-class marketable qualities. When a brood sow has once been overfattened the chances are that her usefulness as a breeding animal has been ended. Even though better feeding methods be used thereafter, it will be impossible to better matters any.

Now that the brood sow should be in a ration that contains one part of protein to five parts of carbohydrates. This should be given in sufficient quantities to insure the upkeep of the body, but not enough given to cause laziness.

Plenty of exercise is necessary to assure the proper assimilation and digestion of the food. The sow should have access to sufficient area to assure that. By combining a properly balanced ration with plenty of exercise the animals should keep in proper condition of flesh and health.

LIKEN CHOLERA TO TYPHOID

Control and Eradication of Disease Is Matter of Education Rather Than Vaccination.

By DR. J. W. CONNAWAY, Veterinarian of Missouri Experiment Station.

The control and eradication of hog cholera is a matter of education rather than vaccination with hog cholera serum.

Hogs must have pure water. Hog cholera is like typhoid. The English call it "pig typhoid." Last Summer, when it was so dry and the pools were low and stagnant, the disease was spread by the great number of hogs that drank from ponds. The farmers that gave their hogs well water had the least cholera on their farms.

Hogs often become permanent carriers of the disease germs after they have been cured, and will spread the infection. Doctor Connaway also says that pigeons carry the hog cholera germs from one farm to another.

The buildings where hogs are kept should be disinfected with air-slacked lime. It is cheap and you can see where you put it. Disinfect the hog also. Where proper sanitary conditions exist there is little danger of hog cholera. Hogs should not be fed in the mud, but on hard ground or on a brick or concrete floor.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Have little bedding in the farrowing pens.

Get acquainted with the sows before farrowing time. It pays.

Give the ewes the run of the fields every good day in the spring.

Don't wait until you need pigs before you get them. Be ready!

Few branches of stock feeding offer better inducements than feeding vange lambs.

A fender around the sides keeps the sow from lying out of the pen with her pigs.

At weaning time colts should be taken away entirely out of sight of the mothers.

Pot-bellied, fat fed colts tell the story of improper feeding, slow growth and poor development.

Pneumonia kills many pigs before they get used to sleeping in damp pens, drafts or snow banks.

The pregnant mare is like the cow and sow and makes the same considerations.

It is expensive carelessness to hitch a warm horse inadequately protected from raw winds and drizzling rain.

County Teachers' Institute

Muhlenberg county school teachers are here this week, at work and play; the annual institute is in session at the court house, convening Monday, and the last session will be held tomorrow. Prof. T. J. Coates is again the instructor, and a more happy selection could not have been made, as the state has no more forceful, active man in the educational work than Prof. Coates. He is especially loved and appreciated here, where he spent many years in the school room, and his hosts of friends and admirers are always glad to welcome him socially and professionally. His talks have all been highly interesting, and his lecture "Americanism," delivered Tuesday night, was a masterly, practical talk enjoyed by a large audience. The programs have been varied enlisting the efforts of many of the teachers, and all have been benefited by the communications of the week.

Chickens and turkeys have been dying in large numbers throughout Kentucky and Indiana from a new disease that has not been brought under control. Fowls wander away and die, other fowls find and eat them, thus causing a vast decrease in the poultry supply, as limberneck develops from the eating of the dead fowls.

It is now easier to get hauling done, as farmers are through with their rush work, and have gone into public service.

Mr. Otto A. Rother, of Louisville, arrived Tuesday, and will spend a short time with his Muhlenberg county friends and admirers.

That school fair is getting plenty of publicity this week, and the event this year will show a lusty growth over the first one, held last fall.

A Fly Catechism.

The following questions and answers were prepared by the Indiana State Board of Health and have been widely copied:

1. Where is the fly born? In manure and filth.
2. Where does the fly live? In every kind of filth.
3. Is anything too filthy for the fly to eat? No.

4. (a) Where does he go when he leaves the surface closet and the manure pile and the spittoon? Into the kitchen and dining room.
- (b) What does he do there? He walks on the bread fruit and vegetables. He wipes his feet on the butter and bathes in the milk.

5. Does the fly visit the patient sick with typhoid fever, consumption and cholera infantum? He does—and he may call on you next.

6. Is the fly dangerous? He is man's worst pest and more dangerous than wild beasts or rattlesnakes.

7. What diseases does the fly carry? He carries typhoid fever, consumption and summer complaint.

8. Did he ever kill anyone? He killed more American soldiers in the Spanish American War than did the bullets of the Spaniards.

9. Where are the greatest number of cases of typhoid fever, consumption and summer complaint? Where there are the most flies.

10. Where the most flies? Where there is the most filth.

11. Why should we kill the fly? Because he may kill us.

12. When shall we kill the fly? Kill him before he gets wings—kill him when he is a maggot in the manure pile—kill him while he is in the egg state.

13. How? Keep the stables dry and clean and don't allow any manure to stay on the premises longer than one week. Have all other filth and trash accumulating on your premises removed or burned at least once a week.

14. If your neighbor fails to comply with these rules and allows flies to breed on his premises to visit you, screen your doors and keep them out.

Negro Assailant Arrested.

Clifton Pennington, a young man, was arrested in St. Charles and brought here last Saturday, placed in jail on the charge of having entered the home of Mr. Walter Bandy, south of town, on July 17, and offered violence to Mrs. Bandy, being scared away by her screams. Diligent search was made for the negro at the time but the assailant escaped. Accurate description was secured by the officers, and sent to officials far and near. An examining trial was held Tuesday. Pennington was placed in a room with four other negroes, and Mrs. Bandy identified him as the man who had attacked her. Pennington claims he lives in Hopkinsville, does not deny that he was in this vicinity about that time, but declares that is innocent of the charge. He tells conflicting stories, and while the evidence against him has not been divulged, it is understood that the case will be made strong against him. Acting Judge W. C. Jonson, after hearing the evidence, held Pennington over to the September grand jury under a $5,000 bond, failing to give which, Pennington is in jail. The case attracted much attention, but there was no excitement or undue passion manifested.

Mastication.

When we do not chew our food properly the evil consequences are many, and often serious in their effect upon health, and even life. In the first place, a person who does not chew his food sufficiently is sure to eat too much. That is especially true in the case of soft foods, which are sometimes literally shoved into the stomach! Food that needs mastication will generally get a little, even from the worst sinner, although sometimes it gets only enough to make the act of swallowing possible.

Through mastication acts in two ways to diminish the amount of food you take. If a proper proportion of the time spent at the table is occupied by the work of mastication, the amount of food taken is naturally less. Furthermore, those who chew properly do not crave food as others do, for they digest what they swallow, and are free from the unnatural hunger that torments the rapid eater. Mr. Fletcher, the dietitian, has proved that he can maintain a high degree of health and vigor on a much smaller amount of food than most people think they need. Another real danger to the health of the rapid eater arises from the unbroken lumps of food that pass into his stomach. In some cases the digestive juice struggles with them in vain, and they cause much discomfort, and often serious disorders—often appendicitis.

Children should be taught to chew their food well, for the healthy condition of the mouth and teeth in after life depends upon their doing so. If the jaw does not grow properly, there is not room enough for the teeth. Now, the growth of the jaw depends in a large measure on the mastication it is called upon to do. The teeth themselves suffer also—they miss the active circulation of the blood, the stimulation of the gums, and the cleansing of the mouth by the salivary glands that follow upon the Never feed dusty feed.

The poultry industry is growing.
Green feed for hens is essential.
Conquer the kicking cow with kindness.
Put the silo on the warm side of the barn.
A little frost will not hurt cauliflower.
Lack of exercise is excellent to make fowls sick.
Silage fed cows are never attacked by the cornstalk disease.
An occasional soaking in brine will keep the wooden churn sweet.
An ordinary cow voids about 30 tons of liquid and solid manure a year.
The man with four or more cows doesn't save money by not buying a separator.
Plenty of sunlight in the calf stable makes for health and quick growth in the youngsters.
The dairyman who has alfalfa hay to feed needs less grain than the man feeding other hay.
A poultard is a pullet deprived of the power of producing eggs, with the object of great size.
Avoid the mistakes made last spring, and make good use of the things learned last year.
Other things being equal, the separator on a solid and level foundation will give the longest service.
There is no animal that responds more quickly or more profitably to good treatment than the pig.
Cherry trees are entirely free from diseases, on which account nurserymen like to handle them most.
A simple system of bookkeeping maintained throughout the year will be both helpful and satisfying.
Throwing manure out of the stable against the posts of the basement will surely cause them to rot. Don't do it.
The male chicken is a cock, the male goose a gander, the male duck a drake, and the male turkey a tom or gobble.
There should be enough ventilation in every hen house to do away with the dampness caused by the fowls' breathing.
Every farmer with a number of cows should have a clean, sanitary milk house, well supplied with good cold water.
When hay contains quantities of quack and other foul seed the composting of the manure is a necessary precaution.

Corn is the best crop to plant on new land, as the constant working will put the ground in good order for seeding in the fall.
Save all the small potatoes to use with the mixed food later on. They will prove a very beneficial addition to the warm mush.
The best profits in dairying come from the best farms and herd. It takes more than a good creamery to make a large milk check.
All the growth and thrift that can be encouraged and maintained during the first year of a colt's life insure a stronger and a better horse.
If the incubator is to be used in hatching chicks, look it over and see that everything about it is in proper shape before starting the heat.

Are there not some places about the farm where evergreens ought to be planted? They make a splendid windbreak about the barn and yards.

Before setting a hen it is well to thoroughly clean the nest and then lay a piece of cardboard, soaked in kerosene in the bottom of the nest.

The kind of separator one uses is of less importance than the kind of care given the machine. It is often taken for granted that you have an efficient skinner.

Boston now claims to possess a real Venus. With beauty and brains cornered, the staid center of intellect and culture will soon challenge Paris for the style championship.

Teach the boy that there is just as much opportunity to use his brains on the farm as in any other work and the chances are he will be more willing to stay with you.

Present indications are that hog prices will make another fight within the next five or six months. This ought to be a good time to get a bunch of hounds together and feed them skim-milk.

While plenty of roughness of the ordinary kind does not add much richness to the ration in theory, in practice it is worth considerable. Cows like the stuff themselves with something after having had their meal of concentrated feed. If they cannot do this they fall down in the milking supply.

For poultry food, pea meal will be found nutritious, rice easily digested, linseed meal cathartic, potato starch digestible, barley nutritious but tasteless, and oatmeal more nutritious than either wheat or barley. There is fully 5% per cent. of fat in oatmeal. Corn contains from 7 to 8 per cent. of yellow fat.
